

Philippines rules Asian Beach Ultimate and takes gold

Australia made a valiant effort to try to upset the home teams, but the Philippines were just too strong in both divisions. Although the weather was perfect for the rest of the day, the Open finals ended in the almost complete darkness due to the late start of the games in the morning. Some of the Australian indicated that they think that if they send their best team in 2011 to the World Championships Beach Ultimate (location to be determined) they will beat the Philippines. I am not so sure. However I also never saw the Australian top team. All I know is that the Boracay Dragons are fast and have amazing handling skills. I am looking forward to their match up 2011... :-) That is it for now from the beaches of Boracay. Tonight is Halloween and the party should be amazing!
